Writers in Burnley...

POETRY AND PAPER WORKSHOP PAUL JOHNSON

THE GALLERY
DOWNSTAIRS
Yorke Street, Burnley

Tuesday 13 October 7.00 p.m.

Paul creates poetry in three dimensions, by shaping paper into miniature books, hangings and sculptures. The forms are related to the subject of the poem and give the words a physical presence more common in oriental writings than in the West. This workshop should be a lot of fun for adults and for children.

JOHN CUNLIFFE

ROSEHILL JUNIOR SCHOOL
Moorland Road, Burnley
Monday 9 November 7.00 p.m.

John Cunliffe, best-known as creator of Postman Pat, has written a number of other books and stories for children including The Farmer Barnes series and the King's Birthday Cake. He will be talking about the practicalities of writing, particularly with regard to working with illustrators and publishers.

OPEN HAND THEATRE CO

the twits

by ROALD DAHL

NELSON AND COLNE COLLEGE
Tuesday 6 October 1.45 p.m.

Admission 50p
(accompanying teachers free)

Mr. and Mrs. Twit are DISGUSTING. They play horrible DISGUSTING tricks on one another. They treat the Muggle-Womp Monkeys badly — as only really nasty people can. But when the Roly Poly Bird flies in from Africa — look out disgusting Twits!

Action, masks, giant puppets and lots of fun.

SUN ERGOS

A COMPANY OF THEATRE AND DANCE

Monday 9 — Friday 13 November

Sun Ergos will tour schools with Twinings, a show based on folk-tales from around the world. They will also give a public performance of Hibakusha Twilight; a show both funny and sad, complacent and disturbing, taking as its theme the effects of the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

VISUAL ARTS

Jewellery Showcase

AILEEN HAMILTON

Bone China jewellery masked and stone-blasted to obtain an open lattice effect. Onglaze enamels in mainly pastel colours.

NICOLA SHARPLES

A unique style of fashion jewellery by a local maker. Assymetrical shapes inspired by natural forms.

AUGUST

The GALLERY Downstairs

Mainspace

August 10 - September 5

BETTER HALVES

An exhibition of mixed crafts by husbands, wives and partners, some collaborating, others working individually, but all giving mutual support and encouragement.

September 21 - October 24

FRANS WIDERBERG

— A Retrospective Exhibition

Frans Widerberg is an important figure in Norwegian art. He represents a tradition which is deeply rooted in Scandinavian history and mythology, but has played a crucial part in the development of the new figurative art now prevalent in Norway. His pictures, which express a direct and immediate contact with nature are characterised by their luminosity. Broad sweeping brush-strokes of strong colour give his work an intense expressive power. We are sure that this important and stimulating exhibition will be of special interest to schools and colleges, and look forward to hearing from any teachers who would like to bring parties of students for study sessions and workshops.

Gallery Showcase

RUTH POVEY

Translucent sand-blasted bowls in delicate shades of pink, blue and green.

DEBORAH FLADGATE

Free-blown glass tableware individual pieces in black and white or pastel shades, and sets of tableware in clear glass.

ANITA PATE

Blown cased glass decorated by masking and sand blasting.

BUFFY ROBINSON

A local craftsman who uses the translucence of waxed cotton in her batik designs to produce window hangings, blinds and lampshades.

The Gallery Downstairs will be closed for a short time in mid-September for building work to be carried out. We shall re-open on September 21 with a major painting exhibition.

PAUL JOHNSON — VISUAL POETRY

Paul makes books and sculptures of hand made water-colour papers. The structures and colours of the three dimensional objects reflect the mood or feeling set by a particular poem which is incorporated into the work. Paul takes his ideas from the forms and forces of nature.

JANICE SALMON — PAPER BOWLS

Janice makes her own paper, by boiling and pulping rags or plants, and forms it into bowls by lining a plaster mould. She also makes basket type bowls from fine cords which incorporate dyed plant paper

JULIA CARTER PRESTON — CERAMICS

Julia likes to make large plates and bowls which give plenty of scope for decorative effects. Her designs, based on natural objects have a formal intricacy. The designs are executed in Sgraffito — a method of cutting into one layer of coloured clay to reveal a different colour beneath.

SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER

THERESA CZYZEWICZ

Theresa makes striking jewellery using strong colours against a black ground. She is constantly searching for new materials to work in, and her designs evolve from the nature of the materials.

GILLIAN SALMON

Gillian's range of fashion earrings are silver or gold-plated. They are geometric forms usually based on a circle, and have textured designs produced by masking and sand-blasting.

WHEELCHAIR ACCESS

PLEASE NOTE

The Gallery Downstairs has wheelchair access from the car park, and we are delighted to welcome individuals and parties from any disability group into the gallery for exhibitions and workshops.

TOURING EXHIBITION LOCK POUND & SUMMIT

Photographs by Ben E Shaw

A series of photographs documenting the past and the present of the Leeds and Liverpool Canal, with a look also at a new future promised by conservation schemes and community projects. Ben Shaw has found pattern and design, romance and history in man-made structures, as well as beauty and form in the plant life of the canal.

TO ALL TEACHERS & ORGANISERS

At The Gallery Downstairs we try to increase enjoyment and understanding of the contemporary visual arts for the whole community. As the Gallery's programme develops we shall be able to offer facilities for practical workshops, study sessions, talks and seminars both to schools and colleges and to other interested groups.

We would welcome enquiries from any teachers, lecturers and organisers about the services we can offer.

INKLE WEAVING DEMONSTRATION JUNE LIVELEY

BURNLEY GENERAL HOSPITAL
ACTIVITIES CENTRE FOR THE ELDERLY
Monday 21 September 2.00 p.m.

Inkle weaving is a very old method of making braids. An inkle loom produces flat or tubular braids up to four inches wide. These can then be used individually, as belts or ties for example, or stitched together to make larger items.

HABERGHAM FESTIVAL

HABERGHAM SIXTH FORM CENTRE
Kiddrow Lane, Burnley
Thursday 22 October — Saturday 19 November

Trevor Whitehead has combined his two major interests — natural history and photography to produce these full colour photographs of butterflies and other insects. Trevor is a young self-taught photographer from Accrington.

SPECIAL EXHIBITION

MECHANICS FOYER
Monday 7 to Saturday 20 September

An exhibition of the prize-winning entries from the childrens painting competition Design a Book Cover. Also on show will be some of the work done by school children during workshops in the Gallery Downstairs and after visits to the exhibitions.
