LIVE AT THE TRADES

A HOST OF WELL KNOWN POETS

continue to feature at Live at the Trades

The fourth Wednesday of every month brings the best in national and regional poetry to Haslingden.

Dates for the diary are:

Wed. May 26th - Playwright, and poet Kevin Fegan supported by Bradford's Ruth Malkin. Wed.

June the 23rd - Compelling and thought provoking as ever: Mandy Precious. Wed. July 28th - Noted for her peculiarly 'English' eccentricity: Dorothy Nimmo. Wed. Aug. the 25th - a man whose appeal crosses continents and art forms: Artist and poet

John Lyons. Wed. Sept. 22nd - formalist - maybe - but certainly not dry: Copland Smith. Wed Oct. 27th - Chris Evan's favourite radio poet: Marvin Cheeseman.

Wed Nov. 24th - experimenting with form, content and language: Karachi born poet Shamshad Khan

LIVE AT THE TRADES

features guest poets and open floor at Haslingden Trades Club, Regent St every fourth Wednesday, 8pm. £2

THE OPEN FLOOR

The open floor is a key feature of Live at the Trades - the invitation to stand up and read is to everyone - this means you. Come and read your poetry to a friendly audience - contact us for details of other venues and workshops too.

FAMILY EVENT

POET AND PERFORMER

Paul Cookson - a leading light in the whacky world of children's poetry - brings an evening of spontaneity, warmth and humour for all the family to Haslingden.

"Sparkling poems full of zany humour" - John Foster

"A Highlight of the Festival" - Cheltenham Festival

"Don't just stand there: book him!" - Ian McMillan

Haslingden Public Hall
